IWCA I-14 DRAFT STANDARD IS AVAILABLE FOR SECOND PUBLIC COMMENT

PLEASE CLICK HERE TO ACCESS DRAFT

The IWCA I-14 Window Cleaning Safety Draft Standard is available for second public comment/review. This allows interested and affected parties to submit comments on the content of the draft if so desired. The public comment period begins on Friday, November 18, 2011 and ends on Monday, January 2, 2012.

The standard is intended to serve as a guide for window cleaners, regulatory agencies, manufacturers, architects, consultants, designers and building owners. The initial version of this standard was published in 2001. From that time, the I-14 committee has been making revisions to the standard based on comments and questions from all facets of the industry.

The IWCA asks that any comments on the draft be submitted by email to Mandie@robstan.com or by US Postal mail addressed to their office. Instructions for submitting comments are as follows:

1. Cite the paragraph where a change is proposed
2. Suggest proposed wording for the change
3. Provide rationale (which may include technical data) for the change

If comments are not received in this format, the committee may not address them.

All comments submitted by the Monday, January 2, 2012 deadline will be reviewed by the committee at their next scheduled meeting.
